

Getting Started

IN NJCU'S WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

In order to participate in any of our workforce development programs, workforce trainees must have the following credentials:

- Be at least 18 years of age
- Have earned a high school diploma or GED
- Have a valid driver's license or reliable means of transportation

“ I am most appreciative to be a part of the Mariner Maritime Training course. It is an honor to be aboard. I will not fail myself or you, and I thank you for this opportunity of a second chance to better my life. ”

Terrance D.
Maritime student

NJCU's Division of Professional Education and Lifelong Learning (PELL) offers classes, certificates, and services that support a variety of people in the community.

Online classes

Hundreds of non-credit classes and programs offered through training partners.

New Pathways to Teaching in New Jersey

100% online alternate route to teaching program.

Workplace Training Programs

Training for middle-skills jobs in logistics, maritime, information technology, hospitality and media.

Public Safety Program

A non-credit program for local first responders, law enforcement, and other public safety officials.

Kids on Campus

Offers academic classes for children K-12 on Saturdays on the main campus of NJCU.

Community Music School

Year-round voice and instrument lessons for children K-12. Summer camps also available.

Customized Training

For organizations that need to train their employees in leadership, soft skills, and more.

Walking Through History: Walking Tours Provided by NJCU Faculty

Learn about the local history of the surrounding area.

njcu.edu/pell | pell@njcu.edu | 201-200-2462

NJCU

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION
AND LIFELONG LEARNING

WORKFORCE

DEVELOPMENT

NJCU

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION
AND LIFELONG LEARNING

1927

Workforce

DEVELOPMENT

The 21st century did not only move us forward 100 years, it has exponentially changed the job market environment. The surge of technology, online shopping, and the healthcare enterprise has created a job market that desperately needs to be filled.

If you want to pursue a viable career path that is the force and movement that affects every other industry in our society, then Workforce Development programs may be for you!

Preparation

FOR THE WORKFORCE

Since 2016, NJCU's Workforce Development has trained and graduated approximately 500 students with a successful employment placement rate of 70% each year.

NJCU offers a variety of workforce development programs in: Allied Healthcare, Business, Hospitality, Information Technology, Logistics, Maritime, and Media.

Each program is designed to help residents from Hudson County and surrounding areas develop the middle skills required to succeed in today's ever-changing economy.

“The training that I received at NJCU increased my marketability, and the certificates awarded all but guaranteed a management position. I owe my current success to the TLD program and I am confident that you will enjoy the same successes.”

Noel A. Rodriguez

Logistics and IT:

ON THE WORKFORCE RADAR

Some of New Jersey's largest sectors of growth and employment are Supply Chain Management and Warehouse Operations, Maritime/Port Logistics and Information Technology.

TLD Essentials Program is a free 4-week training program in Supply Chain Operations for men and women, providing industry training in Transportation, Logistics and Distribution. Graduates of the program receive certifications in Forklift Operation, Fundamentals of Logistics/Warehousing and Occupational Safety and Health (OSHA).

The 8–12 week Merchant Mariner Program, in partnership with Educate the Block, is the off-shore parallel of Port Logistics operations. Successful completers will receive job placement assistance and up to 5 industry-valued credentials.

Tech Fundamentals, offered by our partner NPower, includes 16 weeks of classroom learning, opportunity to obtain industry renowned IT certifications, a 7-week paid internship, and job placement.