

NEW JERSEY CITY UNIVERSITY'S

BLACK ADMINISTRATORS, ALUMNI, FACULTY, STAFF & STUDENTS ORGANIZATION presents a

KWANZAA CELEBRATION

A celebration of family, community & culture. Come learn more about the tradition of Kwanzaa.

Wednesday, December 12, 2018

12:00 – 2:00 PM

GSU Multipurpose Room B & C

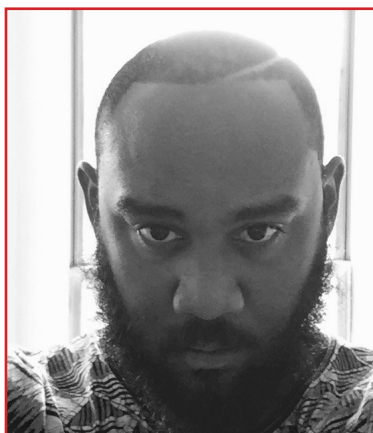

CO-SPONSORS

Office of the President
NJCU Student Government Organization
Deborah Cannon Partridge Wolfe College of Education
College of Professional Studies
NJCU School of Business
Lee Hagan Africana Studies Center
Black Freedom Society
Office of Campus Life

Cultural Food provided by Chef J's Encounter

FEATURED VENDORS:

Blake's Wooden Treasures
Earthly Solutions (Bath & Body)
Leon The King
Valerie Dixon
Shangamire Clothing
Nubian Hair Society
BroFace Essentials
Lee Hagan Africana Studies Center
NJCU African/African Studies Department
Valerie Dixon Jewelry and Accessories
Jersey City Community Organizations

Shaun Kelly is a renowned percussionist, composer, vocalist who has played with musical legends in front of hundreds of thousands of fans around the world.

Over 20 years, this Flushing, Queens native immersed himself in Hip-Hop, Jazz, Country, West African /Central African percussion, Pop and Rock studying music at Harlem School Of The Arts.

Shaun began his performance career after college, playing extensively in New York City and touring the world with various dance companies such as Break the Urban Funk Spectacular, Batoto Yetu, Bambara Dance and Drum company, and music group, Urban BushWomen as their percussionist.

Shaun has played drums and percussion gracing stages around the world with such artist such as Les Nubians, Hassan Hokmoun, Rob Glasper John Legend, Pete Rock & C.L. Smooth, Anthony Hamilton, Blitz The Ambassador, Vinx, and The Last Poets to name a few.

