

OUR COMMITMENT TO JERSEY CITY

New Jersey City University is proud to be a partner in the renaissance of Jersey City: a renaissance that is the culmination of years of investment and planning. One of NJCU's contributions has been a significant investment in a 22-acre site that was in need of extensive environmental remediation. Working with the state, city, and the Honeywell Corporation, the site has been turned from an area requiring redevelopment into one that is now ready for public use and a stunning neighborhood focal point.

This exciting transformation has been guided by our vision of turning this neighborhood in need into the University's West Campus—a vibrant model of an environmentally friendly, transit-oriented development that will include instructional facilities, residential student housing, as well as rental apartment units, public plazas and retail, along with a variety of eating venues, and a new ShopRite supermarket. In short, working with the local community and our partners, we are creating a new and much-needed asset: a safe, vibrant, energetic, walkable community much like many “college towns” in other parts of the state.

These are truly exciting times to be living and working in Jersey City. All of us at NJCU are grateful for the benefits we have received over the years as citizens of Jersey City. We are delighted that our partnership in this new and exciting development gives us the opportunity to demonstrate our appreciation.
